CSEA Pact, Election Commissioners Approved by Legislature

BY LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County Legislature approved its contract with the Civil Service Employees Association, learned that a 50-bed hospital-related facility at its old TB Hospital on Golden Hill had received the approval of the state and, approved the appointment of Edwin Callahan and John J. Hogan as Republican and Democratic election commissioners, respectively.

The year-end, annual meeting, held Thursday afternoon in the County Office Building, also saw the defeat of two resolutions of Alex J. Nirenberg (D-Dist. 10) who sought to amend the 1973 county budget, calling for more money for two county agencies.

The board also set the date of Thursday Jan. 4 at 7:30 p.m. for the organizational meeting of the Legislature at which it is expected that Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8), chairman will be reelected. Ernest J. Gardner, is also expected to be elected as majority leader and Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City) will be reelected minority leader.

The Legislature approved the employee contract which was previously ratified by the CSEA by a vote of 3 to 1. It gives employees a 5.5 per cent raise, within the federal guidelines, plus other fringe benefits.

The appointment of Callahan as Republican election commissioner was unanimous but Hogan's appointment as the Democratic commissioner met with some opposition from two Dist. 7 legislators of his own party, Lewis Kirschner and Louis Klein.

Kirschner cited the fact that two other contenders for the $12,000 a year post came from his district, Mrs. Barbara DeStefano, Rosendale Village trustee and Jeannette Kelly, registrar of vital statistics for the City of Kingston.

Klein contended that the appointment had been taken away arbitrarily from the incumbent Democratic Commissioner Joseph Epstein and that if Epstein were not to get the nod then the appointment should have gone to someone in the county rather than the city where the greatest number of political appointments are usually designated.

Majority Leader Clifford Snyder (R-Dist. 1) praised Callahan for his work as administrative assistant in the Board of Elections.

Both of Nirenberg's resolutions, calling for more funds for Ulster County Libraries and the Association for Retarded Children, went down to defeat with all legislators, except Nirenberg, voting the measures down.

Savago said that only this week he had received a letter of appreciation from ARC for the funding the county already affords.

The Legislature also went on record as a "party of interest" in any future water supply takings affecting the Wallkill River. Orange County has filed application with the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation to acquire lands in Orange County for water supply purposes. The flow of the water in the Wallkill is of critical concern to Ulster County communities for recreation, wildlife preservation, irrigation and assimilation of treated sewage wastes.

The board approved a contract for $5,000 for the preparation of a detailed architectural and engineering plan for the conversion of the county farm in New Paltz into a county park. The contract is with the firm of Mignone, Greenman and Pederson.

The appointment of Alexander Soutar of the Town of Gardiner to the Ulster County Planning Board was approved as was the amending of the 1973 county budget adding $1,500 to the Migrant Health account and $1,500 to federal aid revenue.

Legislator Harry C. Kapreilian (R-City) gave a report of plans for the June 24-27 convention of the New York State Legislators and Supervisors Association to be held in Ulster County. Kapreilian said the convention will bring in $30,000 to $40,000 in business to the county and the expenses will be covered through the sale of advertising in a journal. Between 300 and 400 families are expected to visit the county during the four-day confab.

WAR'S HAVOC—This photo, released by an official North Vietnamese source, purports to show a group of unidentified diplomats inspecting the ruins of the Bach Mai Hospital in Hanoi. The caption from the Communist source goes on to say the hospital was destroyed by U.S. B-52s. (PHOTO AND BASIC CAPTION INFORMATION FROM NORTH VIETNAMESE SOURCE)

Pause for Holiday Ordered by Nixon

SAIGON (UPI) —Informed U.S. sources said today President Nixon has ordered a brief New Year's Day pause in the full-scale bombing of North Vietnam. The U.S. command announced the loss of four more American planes downed in the raids.

With the most intensive American bombing of the Vietnam War in its 11th day today, the sources said Nixon's bomb halt would last "about 24 hours" but that it would be shorter than the unannounced 36-hour Christmas pause.

The Viet Cong has already declared a 24-hour truce for the new year beginning at 1 p.m. (midnight EST) New Year's Eve.

The U.S. command said at least 12 more American fliers were missing in the warplanes—one of them another B52 bomber—downed Wednesday night and Thursday. The losses brought the official tally since the air war resumed over the North Dec. 18 to at least 26 American aircraft shot down—including 15 of the $8 million B52s—and four U.S. fliers killed, five wounded and at least 76 others missing.

American spokesmen also said one American died and another was wounded when a helicopter was shot down Thursday 125 miles from Saigon.

American sources in Saigon said political developments between now and New Year's Eve could change the length of the New Year's bombing pause. But they said barring such developments as a sign from Hanoi that North Vietnam wants to resume the peace talks in Paris, only a one-day halt will be carried out.

The Saigon command has yet to announce a New Year's cease-fire, but is expected to repeat the 24-hour truce it declared at Christmas.

The Christmas truce over North Vietnam which Nixon ordered brought only an official statement by the North Vietnamese government that it would refuse to discuss peace under military threats.

Boistered by vows of support for North Vietnam from top Chinese leaders and more than 1,000 persons at an anti-American demonstration in Peking today, Hanoi's Vietnam NVWS Agency (MNA) monitored in Saigon pledged to "foil any other (U.S.) attempts to escalate the war, however frenzied they may be."

Peking Radio monitored in Hong Kong said Chinese leaders at the Peking rally, including Premier Chou En-lai, pledged "the Chinese people's firm support to the Vietnamese people in their war against U.S. aggression and for national salvation."

A U.S. command spokesman said a B52 and an F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber were shot down over Hanoi Wednesday night. Another Phantom was lost Wednesday to "unknown addition to the loss of four causes in an unknown location planes over North Vietnam," spokesmen said.

A U.S. Navy RA5C reconnaissance jet was also reported down in the North Thursday. One American died and another was wounded in the incident.

The U.S. command, as usual, refused to give any details of the bombing of the North and although military sources said the raids continued today, they gave no details of the strikes into the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland.

Bombing Foes Planning Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national campaign to mobilize public opposition to the bombing of Vietnam was urged today by 18 House Democrats.

They sent a letter to party Chairman Robert Strauss asking him to convene a special session of the Democratic National Committee to organize the campaign.

The group also wants the House Democratic caucus to go on record against the bombing and in favor of a peace treaty between the United States and North Vietnam at its meeting Tuesday before the opening of the new Congress.

In another letter, to Speaker Carl Albert, the House members urged him to support their effort in the caucus.

Albert told a newsman Wednesday he favored postponing any antiwar action by Congress until it has had a chance to plan the reasons for the breakdown of peace negotiations and the renewed heavy bombing of North Vietnam.

Albert's comment has stirred strong opposition among antiwar Democrats. Some of them are threatening to vote against him when he seeks renomination as speaker at the Jan. 2 caucus. Albert is being opposed by Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich.

A number of antiwar resolutions are being prepared for presentation to the caucus, ranging from expressions of disapproval of President Nixon's policies to demands that Congress cut off U.S. funds for the war.

However, sponsors of the resolutions face a parliamentary snag in trying to bring them up at Tuesday's meeting. The caucus is being held for the primary purpose of electing party officers and adopting rules for the 93rd Congress, which starts Wednesday.

Several proposed rules changes and a controversy over a plan to make the office of Democratic whip elective, rather than appointive, could cause time-consuming debate and prevent action on any other matters.

Only one day has been set aside for the opening caucus, but plans are being made for another meeting, probably in about two weeks, to deal with the war and reform issues.

In their letter to Strauss, the 18 House Democrats also asked him to support the end-the-war fight in the caucus. They noted that the Democratic platform calls for enlarging the role of Congress in setting the war policy.

Happy New Year News... Beef Prices Down Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail beef prices declined in November for the fourth straight month, but increased markups by middlemen kept prices from falling even more, the Agriculture Department reported today.

One analyst warned that beef prices could start increasing again because prices for live cattle jumped sharply late in the month.

The Agriculture Department's monthly "market basket" report showed that the average retail price for all beef was $1.12-3-10 per pound.

The "farm value" of beef declined 11.9 cents since July to its lowest point in nearly two years and 5.1 per cent below the farm value a year earlier.

But the department said the middleman charges in the same period rose 5.9 cents and were up by 26.6 per cent from a year earlier.

According to the analysis, if middlemen had passed along the entire decline in the farm value of beef, the price decline to the consumer would have more than doubled.

The department said total middleman charges in November averaged a record 45.7 cents per pound, which was the difference between the amount the consumer paid and the farmer's share of the super-market price.

The so-called farm value last month was 66.6 cents, the lowest since January, 1971, when it was 60.4 cents. That is not the price farmers get for live cattle because it takes nearly 2.3 pounds of steer on the hoof to make one pound of super-market beef. It is, however, the cattle producer's share of what housewives spend on a pound of beef.

The USDA report supplemented one issued last week by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which said retail beef prices for "selected cuts" rose slightly in November.

But the USDA statistics are gathered over the entire month while the BLS uses retail information collected during the first week of each month.

Neither report, however, took into consideration the increases in live cattle prices since mid-November because it takes several weeks before changes in the animal market are fully felt in the consumer pipeline.

At one time last month, according to USDA, live cattle prices at the important Mid-west markets were averaging about $32 per 100 pounds live weight.

Truman Service 'Dignified'

Bess and Harry Tearfully Parted

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) —Harry S. Truman was buried in a simple, dignified service Thursday in the heart of the country he served as 33rd president.

Bess Truman, his gallant widow and companion for more than half a century, sat with her only daughter and wept as a lone bugler, standing at stiff attention, sounded Taps across a windy courtyard on a gray winter day.

Truman's last resting place was the yard of his presidential library in Independence, among the neighbors he lived and the common people the tough little "Man of Independence" identified with.

"He was our brother by adoption. He was our companion by choice," said W. Hugh McLaughlin of Independence, grand master of Masons in Missouri.

Truman died Tuesday at the age of 88 after a three-week illness.

his favorite flower, was placed on his coffin as a military band played "America the Beautiful."

World War I veteran dough-boys of Battery "D" honored their commander "Captain Harry" with a 21-gun salute fired on six 105mm artillery cannons. Thirty of the 54 survivors in the outfit that served under Truman in France during the first world war were among 220 guests who attended the funeral.

Other guests at the private rites were statesmen, relatives, and closest friends of Truman, including Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., who was first elected to the Senate in 1948, the same year Truman stunned Republican Thomas E. Dewey for the presidency.

President Nixon and former President Lyndon B. Johnson paid their last respects Wednesday and did not attend Thursday afternoon's funeral.

Margaret Daniel, the Truman's only daughter, her husband and their four sons sat beside Bess Truman during the service. Mrs. Daniel wept with her 87-year-old mother. Her husband Clifton Daniel, a New York Times executive, leaned over from time to time to whisper words to his youngest son Thomas Washington Daniel, 6.

The American flag that draped the coffin was folded and handed Mrs. Truman by Lt. Gen. Patrick F. Cassidy.

In the end, Bess Truman cried.

The tears she had withheld so long came as the notes of Taps rolled across the chilled and windy courtyard where Harry S. Truman lay in a flag-draped coffin Thursday.

The gentle lady Truman wooed in his youth by the banks of the Missouri River and later took to the White House wept with her daughter, Margaret Daniel. Mrs. Daniel took a handkerchief from her mother's coat pocket and handed it to her.

Moments later, when she was composed again, Lt. Gen. Cassidy presented Mrs. Truman with the folded American flag that had draped her husband's casket.

"This flag is presented to you on behalf of a grateful nation as a token of appreciation for the honorable and faithful service rendered by your loved one," said Cassidy, commander of the 5th Army.

"Thank you," Mrs. Truman whispered.

After the funeral, Mrs. Truman, 87, who kept a vigil by her husband's bedside during his three-week hospitalization that ended in death last Tuesday, issued a statement with her daughter.

"They were touched by the outpouring of sympathy and affection from citizens everywhere and were pleased that so many thousands had come to pay their last respects to President Truman and millions more were able to see the tributes made to him through the medium of broadcasting and the press," the statement in their behalf said.

The finality of the funeral ended a romance that began more than 81 years ago when the two first met in Sunday school and the former president said he fell in love with Bess. He was 6 and she was 5.

ALONE—Holding her cane, Mrs. Bess Truman sits solemnly near casket of her husband, former President Harry S. Truman, as military pallbearers prepare to fold flag for presentation to her during funeral services in courtyard of the Truman Library. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Arab Guerrillas Arrive in Cairo

CAIRO (UPI) — A Thai International Airways plane carrying four Arab guerrillas from Bangkok, where they held six Israelis hostage for almost 19 hours, arrived in Cairo airport, authorities said today. The guerrillas were given safe passage to Cairo in exchange for the release of four Israeli diplomats and the wives of two of them.

Two ranking Thai ministers and the Egyptian ambassador to Thailand, Mustafa el Tawi, volunteered to make the trip with the guerrillas who described themselves as members of the Black September Palestinian extremist group. The same organization took credit for the killing of 11 Israeli Olympians at Munich.

The guerrillas had held the Israelis captive in their embassy, demanding the release of 36 prisoners from Israeli jails. They later dropped this demand.

None of the Israeli captives was injured. The guerrillas had left their hostages at Bangkok airport before leaving for Karachi and Cairo.

Two of the guerrillas got out of the aircraft in Karachi to supervise refueling operations. Along with the guerrillas were Air Chief Marshal Dawee Chualsapaya, Deputy Foreign Minister Chatchai Chunhavan, and the Egyptian ambassador, demanding the release of Arab Israeli Embassy grounds in Bangkok shortly before noon Thursday, armed with automatic weapons and hand grenades.

They took the six hostages, including the Israeli ambassador to Cambodia, hung a green, white and red Palestinian flag from a second floor window, and dropped two notes.

The guerrillas asked "The release of the people listed on the attached list. They are the names of our captured sisters and brothers in the Israeli enemy jails." Among the names listed was Koso Okamoto, one of the three Japanese who carried out the Lod airport massacre near Tel Aviv last May. He is serving a life sentence in Israel.

As Thai police surrounded the building the Israeli cabinet in Tel Aviv convened what turned out to be a lengthy session. Foreign Minister Aba Eban later told newsmen that "There were no concessions" to the guerrilla demands, and "at no time was it even considered."

Sadat Making War Preparations

By United Press International
Hours after announcing that he has ordered his government to prepare for possible war with Israel, President Anwar Sadat of Egypt set up committees at local levels today to carry out his proposals.

Government sources said the president issued decrees setting up committees in the country's 24 governorates to take charge of the war preparations.

Sadat, the sources said, will head a national committee and from it will branch a subcommittee chaired by Prime Minister Aziz Sidky. The sources said Sadat will begin a series of meetings Saturday with his top aides aimed at preparing the nation for war.

The decrees were issued only a few hours after Sadat, in a 45-minute speech to parliament Thursday, said Egypt will have to fight "through fire and storm" to liberate occupied Arab lands.

"I declare it here with the loudest voice and the fullest responsibility," he said, "that the door to battle is the door of the future, and that there is no other path."

Sadat's speech was interrupted several times by applause. "I have asked the government not only to content itself with a plan for preparing the state for battle—a plan which has been carried out already—but I asked them to prepare another plan to prepare the nation for the possibility that fighting may break out," he said.

"We shall fight our way through fire and storm, sacrifice our blood for honor and our sweat for freedom, and place our banners where they should be placed. We shall fight . . . We shall fight . . . until God gives us victory," he said.

Sadat also said he was seeking military coordination with Syria and Libya, Egypt's partners in the Federation of Arab Republics, and support from other Arab countries for a "long, drawn-out battle" with Israel.

"But the principal force in the battle will be the force of the Egyptian people," he said. "This is their destiny and our honor."

Bodies Recovered From Downed Plane

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP)

— The bodies of three employees of a California company were recovered Thursday from a snow-covered mountaintop where their 10-seat jet crashed while approaching the Adirondack Airport in a snowstorm.

The bodies of the Fluor Air Corp. of Los Angeles employees were found on the 1,700-foot summit of Johnson Hill, two miles northwest of the village field, at the site of the partially burned jet.

The Civil Air Patrol meanwhile continued its search for two Pennsylvania men missing since Dec. 20 when their small plane presumably crashed northwest of here, also in a snow storm. A CAP spokesman said Thursday that 21 aircraft—including two helicopters—would search the rugged five-county Adirondack region today.

The Californians were identified by State Police and Fluor officials as Robert F. Jones, 52, 43, of West Norton, and David L. Merchant, 44, of Westlake Village, the copilot, and Dona Fannin, 32, of Glendale, the stewardess.

Fluor officials in Los Angeles said they did not know the reason for the flight.

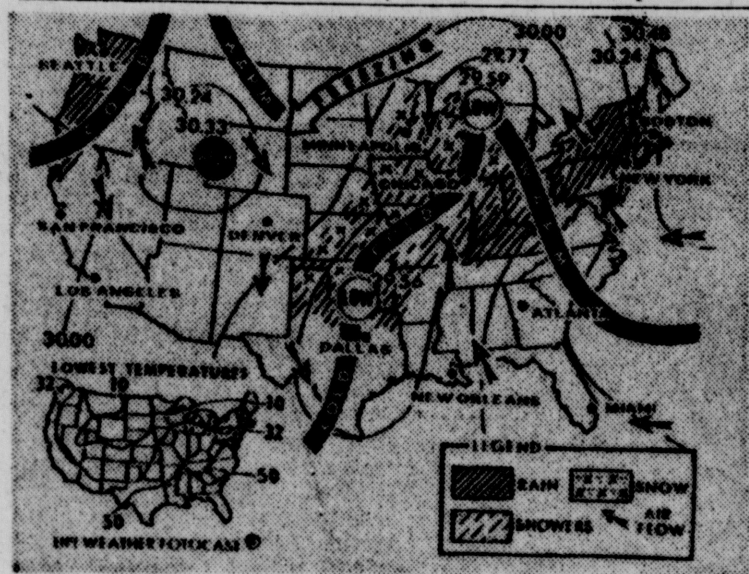

Darkness and the Wednesday night snow squall in which the jet crashed, after losing radio contact with controllers on the ground, prevented search efforts until Thursday. Two forest rangers were then dropped to the crash site in slings from a helicopter, and a ground rescue team bulldozed up the heavily wooded hillside.

The rangers said only one body was still inside the crushed aircraft, a four-engine Lockheed Jetstar.

An airport official said the plane, which had last stopped at Grand Isle, Mich., was "just too low on (its) approach."

The firm is involved in construction, engineering and offshore oil drilling.

Bad flying weather has hampered for eight days the search for the missing Pennsylvanians; pilot Charles L. Anstey, 43, of West Norton, and David Aiken, 35, of Plymouth Township, his passenger.

Loses But Wins

Well you can't say the union men don't take care of their own.

Close your eyes and conjure a picture of a coal miner. What do you see? Most likely, a man in rough, dirty clothes, his face wrinkled and stained from his working environment, his fingers gnarled, his walk bowed.

That is—most coal miners.

But now we have a report of another coal miner or at least an ex-coal miner who somehow may be able to endure life's hardships by visiting his mailbox once a week and picking up a $1,000 check 50 times a year.

Of course a jail term may delay his enjoyment but at least that's what W. A. "Tony" Boyle has to look forward to. Boyle is the man who was defeated by reform candidate Arnold Miller in a bitter, controversial and costly rerun of the election for president of the United Mine Workers.

The second election had been ordered by the Labor Department after fraud was charged in the initial voting that saw Boyle retain the office he had held for 10 years. The fact that the miners' head had been convicted of making illegal contributions from union funds didn't seem to have too great an effect on the voters. He only lost by 14,000. He has appealed the conviction, for which he faces a stiff jail term.

And even though he lost, he still has support in the union's executive board which cooperated with him in an interesting and strategic maneuver. Boyle resigned his post a month ahead of time and the board immediately voted him a $50,000 a year retirement pension. The union's retiring secretary-treasurer also got himself a neat little $40,000 per year pension.

The new president may have something to say about the pensions and in fact has threatened court action.

Meanwhile, it's distressing to see how the big-wigs, whose hearts bleed for the plight of their rank-and-file members, manage to take care of themselves.

Smaller Nations Dominate

With 132 member nations, the smaller countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America have come into their own in the United Nations. The 27th General Assembly meeting, which has just ended, demonstrated the power of the smaller nations in almost all the affairs that came up for debate and decision.

For instance, when the developing countries decided to locate the headquarters of the new World Environmental agency in Nairobi, Kenya, and the Conference on the Law of the Sea in Santiago, Chile, their resolutions skimmed through with wide margins. No matter that Nairobi has no serious environmental problem, that its accommodations are limited and communications restricted. As for Chile, with a claim to a 200-mile ocean limit, it is obviously prejudiced on the law which is to be decided.

Yet when France, with Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann initiating the effort, worked tirelessly day and night to win votes for a mild resolution that would afford journalists an internationally recognized identity card, to help protect them in war zones, the effort failed. Major nations' journalists have suffered injury and death in current wars. Few developing country journalists have.

Many considered Secretary General Kurt Waldheim's call for an end to international terrorism, including hijacking, the central issues of the session. The Legal Committee rebuffed the move to take strong legal action against terrorism, supported by the developed nations. The Asia-Africa-Latin American bloc put over a delay for a year while studies are made to determine the causes and solution of terrorism, as if any more study is needed after this year of horrors the world over.

The feud between the Soviet Union and China sharpened through the session. The language they used was often abusive. It reflected their boundary warfare and their ideological dispute, but nothing came of it. In fact, that was the sad part of the entire meeting. No substance came of it, and this was tragic when unified action against world ills is so vital. Yet, it served as a forum to let off steam, which is a valuable function in itself, saving many a nation's face and preventing hostilities.

WASHINGTON — Brian Desjarlait is dead and the Red Lake Chippewas are angry.
How he died is disputed. The federal policemen who killed him say he was armed. But U.S. Attorney Robert Renner thinks it conceivable the gun may have been "planted" on the body.
A classified report says one of the three Indian officers involved in the shooting had been charged with a civil rights violation. He had been accused by a Desjarlait family member who said the police beat him. After an FBI investigation, the charges were dismissed.

But the details are no longer important. All the tribesmen care is that a restless, yearning, 15-year-old Chippewa boy is dead, the victim of a policeman's bullet. Suddenly, he has become the symbol of the disorder, disease and death that have plagued the Minnesota Chippewa reservation. The situation at Red Lake, Renner told us, is "explosive."

The wonder to us, after studying the Broken Treaties Papers taken from government files by the Indians, is that Red Lake took so long to produce a martyr.

For Red Lake is a classic example of how the federal government, often in league with the tribes' own leaders, have let young Indians languish and drift and sometimes die.

Abounding Poverty
The stolen papers show that the Red Lake lands, comprising an area about the size of Rhode Island, are rich in timber, fish and probably minerals. Yet the median family income is a start $1,300.

"Less than 60 per cent of (the) labor force is presently regularly employed," declares one document. And half of those who work are employed on federal welfare projects.
Not that the Chippewas are shiftless. One report describes them as "friendly and cooperative people (with) a high degree of manual dexterity . . . quick to learn trades and skill under competent guidance." More than that, they are "a people eager for employment."

The stolen documents show that at least a dozen federal agencies have tried to help the Chippewas in the past. But the attempts to help, more often than not, have wound up hindering the Indians.

"About 15 years ago," reports one study, "the federal government undertook a dredging operation of the channel of the Red Lake River. (It) destroyed one of the great natural habitats for fish and wildlife plus one of the best nesting grounds for ducks in the United States."

It also put many Chippewas out of the hunting and trapping business.

Bleak Conditions

Several decades of federal "help" are summed up in these bleak terms: "No air, bus, rail or regular commercial freight service; limited highways; lack of commercial shopping; no motel accommodations; lack of tribal capital for development; lack of employment; lack of banking."

Under present planning, says another document, "it will be 1997 before . . . roads are upgraded." Meanwhile, the secondary roads on the reservation are "full of chuck holes and are hazardous."

The houses on the reservation are no better than the roads. Despite federal housing programs, charges a study, there are "deplorable housing conditions."

And despite federal licensing of trading posts another report says, "conditions . . . are indeed atrocious. (There) are grounds for immediate revocation." The trading post owners, of course, deny the charges.

What the Broken Treaties Papers show, in essence, is that most of the money allocated for the Indians has gone instead to benefit the bureaucrats who have administered the government programs.

Vietnam Intelligence

The real reason President Nixon resumed intensive bombing of North Vietnam, according to the word going out from Henry Kissinger's office, was to break up military preparations for a renewed offensive after the cease-fire.

The President had overlooked the preparations, according to official White House leaks, as long as he thought there was a chance for an enforceable cease-fire. Not until Hanoi hedged about honoring the cease-fire did the President resort to bombing again, it is said.

We have had access, however, to intelligence reports which dispute the official leaks. The infiltration of men and material into South Vietnam, according to the reports, hasn't increased appreciably.

Instead of large troop units, Hanoi has been sending down political personnel who could be used to drum up political support and run a civil government. This would indicate that Hanoi anticipates a political rather than military struggle.

The military supplies that are reaching North Vietnamese forces in the South also don't appear to be adequate for a large-scale offensive. More likely, they are intended to defend Communist positions in case of South Vietnamese military action.

The secret intelligence and the official leaks, in other words, simply don't jive.

'The Right Thing to Do'

WASHINGTON — He snorted at eulogies and hooted at elegies, but he won't mind now because he's too busy explaining to St. Peter that a statesman is just a dead politician. Or may be he's telling off Beelzebub.

Harry Truman was a man totally without pretense. That single characteristic made him uniquely beloved, bluntly blasting for himself a permanent niche in the faceless granite of those presidential picture books.

The debunkers will have a hard time of it with Harry Truman. He debunked himself too much. Alone among modern politicians, he knew who he was and wasn't intimidated by it.

An artillery captain among generals, a plain-spoken haberdasher in the shadow of an eloquent, patrician predecessor, he survived precisely because he would not adapt to his environment nor alter his personality.

In a book that seems designed as an antidote to Margaret Truman's memoirs, I.F. Stone has gathered some of his radical polemics into "The Truman Era" (Random House). But even that nobly indefatigable archivist of American folly finds slim evidence against Truman. In the late 1940s, after all, Josef Stalin didn't seem much interested in wheat deals and coexistence.

In December, 1952, Stone wrote that "until his election in 1948 transformed a disarming humility into a ludicrous conceit, Mr. Truman was a man without faith in himself, surrounded by men without real faith in American society." In contrast to Roosevelt, Truman "was filled with real fear of his own capacity."

Maybe so, but he didn't deny it. His old friend Averell Harriman remarked this week that Truman "didn't ask his advisors what his 'options' were, as is so fashionable today. He simply asked 'What's the right thing to do?'"

A fear so frankly confessed sets him apart from his successors for whom such an admission would be bad for the presidential image.

That fear could also be part of the Christian attribute known as fear of God, another trait alien to Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon. Truman's disdain for both "professional liberals" and "mossback obstructionists," he told his daughter, was based on the perception that they "aren't familiar with the Ten Commandments or the Sermon on the Mount."

Several Truman references to the Sermon on the Mount again illustrate that St. Matthew has since been absent from presidential reading habits. Harry Truman could see no reason why the meek shouldn't inherit the earth and he acted on that precept, in the founding of Israel, in the Marshall Plan, in civil rights at home. Each time, it was "the right thing to do."

Because of the Bible, because of his Mark Twain boyhood, Harry Truman was probably the last pre-modern President, succeeded by sophisticated democrats.

When Dvie Riesman wrote "The Lonely Crowd" he created categories of men, the "inner-directed," relying on a cultural tradition and their family past, and the "other-directed," swept up in complexities of the modern world.

Harry Truman was inner-directed. Harry Truman was simple and serene, which is why he now evokes such simple and serene grief.

His predecessor counseled the nation not to fear fear itself. When Harry Truman's time came, he didn't.

There's No Easy Retirement

Retirement is a bad word. It is strange, but young men look forward to it with longing; old men are shaken by the thought of it. A few men and women handle the shattering change in the life cycle with equanimity. Others make a voyage of discovery out of going to the mailbox for the monthly check.

My father retired from the police department at age 50. When he was 51, my mother, a very gentle woman, said: "Either he goes or I go." He got a job as credit manager for a group of newspapers and retired again at age 78.

By that time, my mother was dead. Big John got the gripes. Nothing was any good. The country was going to the dogs. The suburbs were being ruined by housing developments. The younger generation was going straight to hell. And how was it that every time he required bathroom privileges someone was in it?

Women have a retirement span, too. This comes when the last child is married. She feels unwanted. She is beset by depression. She empties clean ashtrays and runs the vacuum cleaner only when her husband is taking a nap. Her wildest time is two hours when she had lots of problems.

I have a dear friend who is "half" retired. At 60, he told me he felt old. At 65, he feels "great." He was lying both times. Twice a month he goes to the shop to intrude on his old business. His heirs think the best thing that could happen would be for him to break a leg. It would give him something on which to concentrate.

Retired people walk like Indians. He is always a pace ahead. She looks in shop windows with one finger on her lips. When he accompanies her to a supermarket, they argue. At home, for the first time in his life, he becomes acquainted with the TV soap operas. Worse, he begins to like them.

Man was not intended to be plunged from a working life into the icy waters of retirement overnight. Five years before retirement, his firm should put him on a four-day week as a senior. Then a three-day week. Countdown to two; one; zero — blast off!

It's easier that way. At night, she can move him gradually from GP movies to R to X. He's never too old to learn. If he remains home, he wanders from room to room, nibbling and complaining about his bowels. If he plays golf, he curses bad weather and puts into a silent butler.

When he plays, he curses anyway. Sometimes he takes her out to dine. He wants good food but he doesn't want to be robbed. He complains about tips to the waiter and to the kid who parked the car.

After a lifetime of driving, he becomes nervous at the wheel. He swears that nobody can drive anymore. Nuts, that's what they are. He backs into a concrete station and demands to know by what right it was built behind his automobile.

They're on Medicare, so both go to the doctor more frequently. He also has a chiropractor who snaps his back into place as his front falls over his trousers. He tells his wife she wears too much makeup. He won't speak to her but he complains that she spends "hours" on the phone with her girl friends.

Both become averse to funeral services. When he was young he understood women; now he can't understand them. Why would she want a pair of shoes when she has two pairs in the closet? He cult vates retirees and sometimes works up a game of gin rummy. Looking forward to it becomes so exciting he almost has an attack.

She hides all the photos of her youth. Can't stand looking at them. She's an automatic customer for any beauty aid which will lift sags. She is always sure she looks a hell of a lot younger than she does.

Their longest discussions are about money. He threatens to take her name off the joint account. She would go back to mother if she had one.

He says: "Get me this. Get me that." He is an enemy of the word "please." His most humane moment is when he gives her a pat on the behind. Her most humane moment is when she kisses him goodnight and assures him that she loves him.

Often, he wishes he was back at the office, or the plant. How can days become so long and years so short? Taking a bath wears him out; afterward he stretches on the bed.

Have mercy on the retired man. He's a young fellow with old ideas . . .

Area Stock Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices opened firm on the New York Stock Exchange today, the last trading day of 1972.

Brokers said considerable trading would occur today, mainly for tax reasons, but few foresaw any significant price changes in the market as a whole.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks up a fraction, and advancing stocks held a fingernail lead over declining ones.

In the news background, good news indicating a rise in the government's package of economic indicators which forecast coming trends was offset by news of a worsening of the U.S. trade deficit in November.

Big Board prices included Control Data, up 1/4 to 60; Scott's, down 1/4 to 20 1/2; Litton, down 1/4 to 13; Westinghouse, up 1/4 to 42 1/2; and Uniships, off 1/4 to 7 1/2.

All the nation's stock exchanges were closed Thursday in memory of former President Harry S. Truman. Wednesday, there was considerable trading activity but little price change.

State Police Nab Five

RHINEBECK — Five young Brooklyn men were arrested by State Police Thursday afternoon on the Taconic Parkway near Stormville on charges stemming from an alleged burglary at a summer residence on Mountain Road in the Town of Milan earlier in the day.

Three of the youths were eligible for youthful offender treatment in the courts, and were not identified. James M. Passacino, 22, was charged with criminal possession of stolen property in the second degree, and Richard J. Delprete, 19, was charged with burglary in the third degree. Two of the youths were also charged with burglary third degree. The third youth was arrested on charges of criminal possession of stolen property in the second degree.

Approximately $1000 worth of stolen property was recovered when the arrest was made, according to Rhinebeck State Police.

All five men were arraigned before Rhinebeck Town Justice Herman Tietjen and were committed to the Dutchess County Jail in lieu of $3,000 bail each to await an appearance at a later date on the felony charges.

In Kingston, detectives are investigating a burglary reported at the Orange County Plumbing Supply Company at 104 Flatbush Avenue.

Police said entry was made some time between 5 p.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. Thursday by knocking out a side window. Reported missing was an undetermined number of wrenches, pliers, and other hand tools.

Heart Sounds Program Set

KYSERIKE — The Heart Sounds Screening Program, being conducted by the Mid-Hudson Heart Association will be offered to all second and fifth graders in the Rondout Valley Central School District starting Jan. 3.

The order in which the program will be conducted is: Kerhonkson Elementary; Accord Elementary; Rosendale Elementary; St. Peter's Elementary; Marlinton Elementary; and Rondout Valley Middle School.

The screening uses a sensitive electronic device to reveal any abnormal heart sounds. After the screening, every child's parents are notified of the results.

Those who require further diagnostic services can get them free through the Heart Association at Kingston Hospital's Cardiac Diagnostic Unit upon request of the child's physician.

So far this school year, 1,998 children have been screened in the Kingston Consolidated School District, 569 in the Ontario Central School District, and 39 Headstart children in Kingston and Woodstock. Thus far, 37 children have taken advantage of the free follow-up.

"To insure your child's participation, please return the parent's consent form promptly," urged Louis J. Komissaroff, executive director of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association.

Gardiner Adopts Another 'Stop-Gap' Law

BY WADE BURKHART

GARDINER — The Gardiner Town Board, after a public hearing, adopted another "stop-gap" zoning law Thursday, this law to be in effect for six months.

Gardiner has been operating under stop-gap ordinances since 1969, renewing them yearly. This time, according to Supervisor George Majestic, real zoning is on the way, and the full year probably will not be needed.

The law adopted Thursday, says, in effect, that no one may establish any industrial, commercial, or multiple dwelling use anywhere in Gardiner without first getting the approval of the planning board and the town board.

A zoning board of appeals is provided for in the law, but the final say, according to the Gardiner law, still rests with the town board on the issuing of any variances.

The law does not affect any existing non-residential uses, but the uses "shall not be enlarged and the building or premises shall not be altered."

Enlargements or alterations must come before the town board. A qualifying phrase in the proposed law allowing for enlargement or alteration for a "less offensive use" was tossed out before the law was adopted at the suggestion of Councilman Robert Lacouette.

"Zoning being so close, it gives everybody a right to a hearing," said Lacouette of what the shortened ordinance would do.

City Man Sentenced to Prison

KINGSTON — State Police on the night of July 23 after allegedly stabbing Norberto Cordero, 36, of RD 1, Kingston, was sentenced to death Harry Zehnick Jr., 31, Wednesday to an indeterminate term of up to five years in Clinton State Prison after he pleaded guilty in Ulster County Court to a reduced charge of second degree manslaughter.

Cordero, an unemployed laborer and father of five children, was arrested by Hurley restaurant parking lot, where Cordero allegedly stabbed Zehnick once in the left side with a switchblade knife. Ulster County Coroner Richard Buono ruled that Zehnick died of hemorrhages caused by a stab wound that ruptured the victim's aorta.

Cordero fled the scene on foot and was apprehended later that night about a mile south of the restaurant by State Police as he walked along Route 8W. Cordero was originally indicted on charges of first degree manslaughter and criminal possession of a dangerous weapon, charges that were dropped in court Wednesday when Cordero pleaded guilty to the second degree manslaughter charge before County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

District Attorney Francis J. Vogt represented the people. Cordero was represented by court-appointed attorney William C. Mullany of Kingston.

The stop-gap law has teeth. As it was proposed, it provided for a fine not exceeding $50 for each violation, 90 days in jail, or both, with each week of violation a new offense. The town board changed the fine to a $250 limit for each violation.

Gardiner presently has a 15-member zoning commission at work on assembling a comprehensive zoning ordinance for the Town of Gardiner. Harold Gerstaecker is the commission's head.

Majestic said he expected the plan to be submitted to the town board in about two weeks. The commission has already held two public hearings on their proposals and Majestic said additional hearings would be held on the ordinance when it was completed.

State to Wrap Up Charges Against Attica Inmates

WARSAW, N.Y. (UPI) — The state can wrap up the first phase of criminal charges against inmates in the Attica prison riot today with the opening of the last three sealed indictments.

Supreme Court Justice Carman F. Ball was expected to make public the final three of the 37 indictments handed up by special state grand jury Dec. 15.

The 43 persons arraigned so far, were all inmates at the time of the September, 1971, rebellion which claimed 43 lives.

With more indictments expected, no trial dates have been set for the first group of suspects. The charges range from murder to possession of contraband.

As with previous arraignments, the four Thursday were continued until next month.

Arraigned on charges of second degree kidnapping, unlawful imprisonment, coercion and second degree assault were Thomas Hagen, John Mitchell, Ernest Birby and Willie Stokes. All four were named in one indictment and had their cases continued until Jan. 29.

Two Listed In Critical Condition

SUFFERN, N.Y. (AP) — Two men whose helicopter crashed in a field during an inspection tour of power company lines remained in critical condition today, a hospital spokesman said.

George Kyle, 33, of West Nyack, the pilot, and Barry Pfingst, 30, of Pearl River, a first class linesman for the Orange and Rockland Utilities Inc. power company, were injured Thursday when their craft went down on the edge of this Rockland County community.

Ramapo police said the National Traffic Safety Board was conducting an investigation into the cause of the crash. The two men were taken to Good Samaritan Hospital.

Railway Session

The regular monthly meeting of the Ontario and Western Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society will be held at the Globe Hotel, 418 North Street, Middletown, at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 5.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING TO BE CONDUCTED BY ASSOCIATED HOSPITAL SERVICE OF NEW YORK (Greater New York's Blue Cross Plan)

Pursuant to subdivision 2-a (b) of Section 255 of the Insurance Law of the State of New York, notice is hereby given that a two-session public hearing will be held at the Auditorium, American Red Cross Building, 150 Amsterdam Avenue, New York, New York, commencing at 10:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. on Friday, January 12, 1973.

This public hearing will afford any interested person the opportunity to be heard by officials of Associated Hospital Service of New York on the following subjects affecting community-rated groups and subscribers in varying degrees by class of contract. The proposed rate changes do not affect subscribers who are experience-rated.

1. The application of AHS for increases in the schedule of rates to be paid by its community-rated subscribers effective April 1, 1973.
2. The application of AHS for an increase in benefits for obstetrical care, and
3. The cost of including certain other improvements in the benefit patterns of AHS' community-rated contracts.

Vital to these considerations are the issues of hospital reimbursement, adherence to Federal Wage-Price Guidelines, AHS actions to control hospital costs and AHS efforts to carry out the statutory mandate to pay only for the efficient production of hospital service and the necessary planning coordination and cooperation as regards private, public and voluntary health care facilities. Comments and thoughts on these subjects will be most welcome.

To help in scheduling—and for the convenience of all wishing to be heard, kindly call or write Mr. George Goodlett at the address shown below, giving him your name, address and affiliation.

This announcement of the hearing on the changes for which Associated Hospital Service of New York plans to seek approval is published to give notice to all who may wish to appear at the hearing. The detailed terms of the proposed changes as they may affect each individual and group, and as presently planned, are available on request at the address shown below:

ASSOCIATED HOSPITAL SERVICE OF NEW YORK

Mario Maldonado was named in two indictments, but did not appear for arraignment. He was charged with second degree assault, felony possession of a weapon and dangerous instrument and promoting prison contraband in one indictment.

He was also named in another indictment on charges of second degree assault, felony possession of a weapon and promoting prison contraband.

Willie Smith was named in indictment on charges of first degree sodomy and sexual abuse. The charges alleged that Smith subjected a fellow inmate to sexual abuse.

Thursday's arraignments before Ball took a little over 90 minutes, unlike last week's proceedings which were plagued by frequent delays and transportation difficulties.

Local Women Disagree But . . .

Redbook Says: Happily Married Women Back Women's Lib Nearly Two to One

According to a recent survey of 120,000 women, it has been learned that, contrary to common belief, married women who are content with their roles as wives and mothers support the goals of the Women's Liberation Movement almost as strongly as women who are unmarried, seek careers, or are dissatisfied with their lives. The survey was conducted by Redbook magazine and is reported in its current (January) issue.

However, a similar survey on a much smaller scale was made this week by the Women's Department of The Freeman. This survey disclosed that except for ending discrimination in the employment field the same high percentage of support of Women's Lib Movement does not seem to hold true in this area.

According to one local mother, speaking for many of her co-members in various organizations: "We all laugh at Lib. We're already liberated."

Active in numerous organizations and auxiliaries, this woman feels she made her choice in life when she married. She doesn't feel "oppressed" and she "doesn't need a union." Her husband is a mature man who appreciates her needs for outside activities. In her words, "I don't know of a Women's Lib supporter who is active in any kind of charity work. They're all too busy shouting."

Several women agreed "equal pay for equal work," especially for single women. One married woman felt that mothers approaching middle age are more apt to support the Movement since they may be planning to go back to work and are in the process of looking for employment.

"Family First"
One mother of seven was particularly adamant about Women's Lib. With her it is "family first." She feels that one of the major causes of juvenile delinquency is the fact that so many women are no longer in the home where they belong. "The first one children look for after school is 'Mom'; if she's not there, they look elsewhere for moral support." She conceded, however, that there are always exceptions: "If the husband is ill or there are mounting medical expenses, that's something else." "But," she added, "most married women today are in the profession field for extra luxuries."

Some women drew the line at Lib's "far out ideas." Others didn't like giving up those "little conveniences" men always used to afford women. She liked being kept "on a pedestal."

All in all, there seems to be a fairly high percentage of women in Ulster County who feel Women's Lib is, to say the least, complicating life in many ways.

Based on a 100-question questionnaire published by the magazine last April, Redbook's survey also revealed: Nine out of ten women believe that women are treated as second-class citizens.

74 per cent do not think full-time motherhood can satisfy most women.

Three women in four feel the communications media degrade women.

Awareness of Discrimination
Only 10 per cent of the 120,000 women who participated in the survey said that there is no real discrimination against women. One the contrary, more than nine out of ten are aware that women earn less than men for doing the same work. Fully 94 per cent opposed the argument that women deserve less pay than men because women are less reliable workers, and 74 per cent agreed that magazines, newspapers, radio and television degrade women by portraying them as sex objects or mindless dolls.

But while most respondents agreed that discrimination exists, they did not agree on how to end it. Nearly half said that a woman who wishes to overcome discrimination must do it herself, "working individually to prove (her) abilities and educate men."

The next most popular strategy, favored by one woman in three, was "working with men in organized groups." Only two per cent of the women believed that women should join together in exclusively female groups to fight discrimination.

The overwhelming majority of the survey said they are in favor of the Women's Liberation Movement. Least enthusiastic were the women married more than once, with 59 per cent in support. This percentage rose to 65 per cent among women married for the first time; to 73 per cent among divorced women, and to 79 per cent among single women.

Most of the women (84 per cent) who participated in the survey have already made their decisions to marry and have families, and the large majority (85 per cent) are at least relatively satisfied with this decision. Therefore, they do not feel that the Women's Liberation Movement will have a direct effect on their lives, but they do think their daughters will have greater opportunities because of it.

The majority of the respondents said they plan to raise both sexes with similar aspirations. Asked a variety of questions to indicate whether boys and girls should be treated differently while growing up, the respondents said they would encourage both sexes to study medicine (85 per cent), to care for younger siblings (96 per cent), to do household chores (91 per cent), to do gardening and outside chores (84 per cent).

Feelings Toward Sex
Traditionally women have lead somewhat passive sex lives and have been taught to view sex more as an obligation than a pleasure, but the Redbook survey revealed that the majority (83 per cent) of young women today see sex as "important" to their happiness and report a high degree of sexual satisfaction.

The majority of the respondents (59 per cent) said that they and their husbands have equal needs in terms of frequency of intercourse and that these experiences are extremely satisfying. Thirty-nine per cent of the married women said they reach orgasm almost all the time, 19 per cent, almost three-fourths of the time, and an additional 14 per cent, about half the time. Thus the overwhelming majority of married women reported frequency of orgasm that suggests a high degree of sexual satisfaction.

Although 72 per cent of the respondents to Redbook's survey said "the best way for most women to develop their full potential" is to take jobs that most fulfill them as individuals, 68 per cent of the women who quit their jobs when their children were born were happy to do so.

But since three out of four of the women do not believe that full-time motherhood can satisfy most women, it would seem that they view mothering as a temporary career. Nevertheless, of the married women respondents to the questionnaire, almost all were currently responsible for housework and child care, and 76 per cent said they are at least relatively satisfied with this division of labor.

The women are more enthusiastic about less-routine, more creative aspects of homemaking, though. While only 34 per cent find cleaning, dish-washing, and laundry "gratifying or fun," 93 per cent expressed these feelings toward decorating and entertaining, and 70 per cent get a good deal of pleasure in sewing clothes for themselves and their families. Fifty-four per cent even enjoy the daily cooking and less than 20 per cent of the respondents have ever hired help.

The majority of women who participated in the Redbook survey, which the editors believe to be the largest current sample of female opinion about women's roles, also said they did not belong to any women's organizations.

Judges for Hospital Auxiliary Poster Contest

Noted artists Paul Arndt and James G. Cummings will serve as judges for the poster contest sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Kingston Hospital, in conjunction with the annual dance which will be held February 3. Mrs. Richard Winter, chairman of the project, has announced that judging will take place the week of January 13 with all entries to be handed in by January 8.

Mr. Arndt was educated in Paris and was a member of the famed Ecole de Beaux Arts. His specialty was decorating ocean liners for such renowned companies as the Moore McCormick and Maatson Lines. He came to Woodstock in 1917 and became one of the area leading artists, well-known for his landscapes. His paintings grace the walls of the Ulster County Court House, the Kingston Trust Bank, and the Ulster County Savings Bank. Several years ago, Mr. Arndt donated paintings to the Auxiliary of the Kingston Hospital for a special fund-raising project.

Mr. Cummings is owner of the Vasco Pini Frame Shop in Woodstock and teaches a course in Framing at Ulster County Community College. He is also an artist who primarily paints landscapes. He is an active member and former board member of the Woodstock Artists Association and is a member of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen. He served as a judge at the annual craftsmen show at the Guild and as a prize juror at the Woodstock Art Association.

Mrs. Winter stated that the Auxiliary is pleased that two artisans of outstanding caliber will assist the organization with the contest.

KHS Class of 1948 to Meet; 25th Reunion Being Planned

The first organizational meeting to formulate plans for the 25th reunion of Kingston High School, class of 1948, has been scheduled for Friday, Jan. 5, at 8 p.m. at the home of Henry F. Millonig, Hemlock Avenue Extension, Kingston.

The class, which held its 10th reunion in 1958, voted at that time to consider its next reunion in 1973 since that would be the 25th year since graduation.

All classmates wishing to lend their talents towards the success of this reunion are asked to contact either Henry F. Millonig or Ignazio A. Bosco, 80 Roosevelt Avenue, Kingston.

Cabaret-Style Entertainment Opens On New Year's Eve in Woodstock

Opening New Year's Eve, Upstairs at Deanie's Restaurant in Woodstock, Performing Arts of Woodstock will present, cabaret style, its annual holiday treat. This year's entertainment will be a review entitled, "Meanwhile . . . In Beautiful Downtown Woodstock," staged by Toronto's Don Cullen, and assisted by Kim Herald.

Don Cullen, who toured the U.S. in the great hit revue, "Beyond the Fringe," will be in the line-up of "Meanwhile . . ." along with Carol Robinson, Janet Sankey, Wendie Sherman, Frank Alexander, Larry Shufeldt, Bill Burgin, and Ron Radice. Two previews (at preview prices) will be given upstairs at Deanie's on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 29 and 30. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m. On New Year's Eve there will be two performances, at 8:30 and 10:30 p.m. PAW requests those who attend the performances of "Meanwhile . . ." to please not use Deanie's parking lot, so that the regular patrons of Deanie's who are dining or celebrating downstairs will not be deprived of a parking space. If you have made other plans for New Year's, you can catch "Meanwhile . . ." in Beautiful Downtown Woodstock" when it resumes its run on Jan. 19, 20, 21 and 22, 27, 28, Friday and Sunday performances will be at 8:30 p.m. On Saturdays there will be two shows, at 8:30 and 10:30 p.m. The seating capacity (at tables) is limited, so early reservations should be made with Mrs. John LeFever in West Hurley, or Mrs. Stephen Callahan in Kingston.

Professional Man Loves His Work

DEAR ABBY: My home is on the verge of breaking up and there seems little I can do about it. If I leave my husband, there will be three teen-aged children without a father, but I see no other solution.

My husband is a professional man with a valuable career. He has admitted to having had relations with a young woman patient 18 years his junior and now he says he's in love with her, but he claims he is also still in love with me. Can this be?

We were married when we were both in college 23 years ago and I still love him. Our sex life has been tremendous, yet he tells me that "in the line of duty" he helped this woman to find her "ego identity" by teaching her how to love.

I can't stay married to a man who would have relations with other women in the line of duty or for any other reason.

Is this something new in psychotherapy? I can't believe psychologists really believe this will help their patients. What of their own emotional involvements and that of their families?

HEARTBROKEN
DEAR HEARTBROKEN: No professional man in his right mind would have sexual relations with a patient. Your husband needs treatment himself and should not be allowed to continue practicing until he has been rehabilitated.

DEAR E. K.: I'd have told her that since she thanked nobody, EVERYBODY was mad!

DEAR ABBY: We are wondering how many married couples are suffering from a social status game people play when two or three couples get together. It goes something like this:

"We have three cars, two boats, and now HE is talking about buying another snowmobile! How do we get all that in a two-car garage?" Or, "We spent the weekend at the lake cabin with (your favorite friends) and drove over to this place for dinner. Although the tab was $83 for four of us, we weren't impressed with the salad."

Abbey, are we out of it? Why do people try to outbrag each other? Is this something new in our affluent society?

DEAR MIFFED: No. There have always been people who talk about what they have, where they've been, and who they know. The really worthwhile people talk about ideas and issues.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L.A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Auld Lang Syne a la Russe

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor
Everyone toasts the New Year in his own way. Here are two new appetizer recipes for those who enjoy having a few friends in to share the waning hours of yet another year. A Grape Appetizer a la Russe, with its caviar and sour cream, and Baked Mushrooms will intrigue even the most rigid meat-and-potatoes guest.

GRAPE APPETIZER
A LA Russe
One tablespoon red caviar
One-eighth teaspoon salt
One-half cup cultured sour cream
One and one-half cups halved and seeded green grapes

Chicory, watercress or other greens
Six cherry tomatoes, halved
Paprika or dried dill weed
Stir caviar and salt into sour cream in small mixing bowl. With fork, toss grapes in mixture. Turn into six appetizer glasses lined with chicory and garnish with cherry tomato halves. Top with dashes of paprika or dill weed. Makes six servings.

BAKED MUSHROOMS
A LA PERINS
One-quarter cup butter or margarine
One-half pound mushrooms, sliced

Two cups toasted croutons
One cup light cream
One-quarter teaspoon salt
One and one-half tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
In medium skillet melt butter. Add mushrooms and saute for three minutes or until golden. Meanwhile, grease an eight-inch square baking dish. In it, alternate layers of mushrooms and croutons. Combine cream, salt and Worcestershire sauce. Pour over mushrooms and croutons in baking dish. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 20 minutes or until top is golden brown. Makes six portions.

relations with a patient. Your husband needs treatment himself and should not be allowed to continue practicing until he has been rehabilitated.

DEAR ABBY: I finally found one answer to the age old "I never received a 'thank you' for my gift" problem.

A few months ago, the son of a very close relative was married. Prior to the wedding, the bride-to-be had more showers, lunches, and dinners than most young girls.

The gifts she received were very lovely—more like wedding gifts. Many people were invited to the showers and, of course, to the wedding, so many, many gifts were given to this young couple. To date, not one person has received a "thank you" note.

Rather than bother the bride's mother (or mother-in-law) I called the bride. I figure that if she's old enough to get married, she is old enough to explain why she didn't bother to thank people

WOMAN'S VIEW
By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — As the old year creeps to a close and a new year dawns with all of mankind's hopes, we might well ponder what wise men through the centuries have said about our yesterday's and tomorrows.

"Study the past if you would define the future," wrote Confucius, about 500 B.C.

"Neither will the wave that has passed be called back, nor can the hour which has gone return" Ovid wrote one year B.C.

And in 1816, Thomas Jefferson in a letter to John Adams observed, "I like the dreams of the future better than the history of the past."

For those looking with expectation and exhilaration to 1973, and to greater things for home and country, consider that man is the eternal optimist. An ancient writer, Ion, about 500 B.C. put it this way: "The unexpected makes hearts dance the more."

May this column then spell out our wishes for you and yours in this way:

H — is for health and home, health and happiness and all the hope for peace in the world. "There are no hopeless situations, there are only hopeless men," Clare Boothe Luce quoted an unidentified diplomat in her writings in 1940.

A — is for the affection we hold for family and friends, for anger held off, for ambition and aspirations. "He who gives vent to anger destroys his house," said the Talmud circa 450.

P — is for prosperity, for plenty for all and the end to poverty. "Poverty of possessions may easily be cured, but poverty of the soul never," wrote Montaigne, in 1595.

P — is for patriotism, for peace in the world. "Who loves his country cannot hate mankind," said Charles Churchill in 1764.

Y — is for youth in which lies the future. "How beautiful is youth! How bright it gleams with its illusions, aspirations and dreams!" wrote Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in 1875.

N — is for the newness of each day to be faced with joy, for the beauties of nature which we often destroy in the name of progress. An early ecologist, Cicero, wrote that "Nature abhors annihilation." And Dante in 1321 said, "Nature is the art of God."

E — is for each of the New Year's resolutions and may we keep at least some of them. E is for education with its unparalleled opportunities in this proud land of ours. "What sculpture is to a block of marble, education is to the soul," wrote Joseph Addison in 1711.

W — is for the wisdom we seek in these fretful times, for the wish that reason prevail in our world. "Reason is the light that God has kindled in the soul," wrote Aristotle, circa 300 B.C.

Inspired Sawyers Capture OCS Tourney

WITHIN HIS GRASP — That's Dave Fuller (44) of Saugerties whose arms reach above all the rest in battle for a first quarter rebound during Thursday's game against Cathedral. Others hoping it will bounce their way are Tony Buono (32) of Saugerties, Tom Baffuto (22) and Sean McGrail (30) of Cathedral. (Freeman photo by Haines)

By IRA FUSFELD

BOICEVILLE

There's something very special about the athletes at Saugerties High School. Here you have a group of guys who often are less imposing physically than the opposition and who frequently find themselves in the underdog role. Yet, more times than not, Saugerties is successful.

How come? The coaching is part of it, but one gets the overwhelming feeling that the Sawyers themselves just don't believe they're capable of losing. They have tremendous drive, great support from their loyal fans, and continually hustle until the other team is forced into submission.

And that might help explain why Saugerties' basketball team ran away from Cathedral Prep of New York in the second half here Thursday night to score a 77-63 victory in the championship game of the Ontario Holiday Tournament.

The other part of the winning formula was talent. Yes, talent, something the youthful Sawyers showed in abundance, and weren't supposed to have.

There was Larry Panella, a 6-2 junior, who put on quite a display at both ends of the floor, capturing the Most Valuable Player award off of his 30 point effort against Cathedral.

How about Chris Luley? Only a sophomore, he's going to be one super ballplayer in a couple of years, and isn't bad already, as his 20 points proved.

Then there was soph Scott Wilson, and junior Scott Emery, plus vets Joe Hellenschmidt and Billy Maines.

Not bad for a team not going anywhere.

Not going anywhere? How can that be after such an impressive effort here? Well, Saugerties coach Larry Marcus is quick to point out that the quality of the Dutchess County Scholastic League, the Sawyers' usual domain, is a step above what was found in the OCS tourney, and the first game rout by Beacon seems to make that comment true.

But Saugerties would have given anybody a rough time if they played against Cathedral.

Falling behind 21-14 with 4:18 left in the first half, the Sawyers took a time out and regrouped. Three minutes later the game was tied at 25.

Cathedral then ripped off nine of the last 11 points of the second quarter to take a 36-29 lead into the locker room.

Did Saugerties collapse? No sir. The Sawyers, moving with ease on Cathedral's press, containing the Cannons' offensive threat Pete Guelta underneath, and shooting the eyes out of the basket, poured in 26 third quarter points to Cathedral's 12 and took a 55-48 lead into the final session.

During the surge, Luley bombed in 10 points and Panella, who already had posted 13 at the half, added eight more.

Then, when Cathedral closed the gap to five, 59-54, early in the last period, Luley, Maines, and Hellenschmidt hit six straight points, Cathedral's Thad Martin answered with one, Hellenschmidt and Panella added five more lifting Saugerties to a commanding 70-55 margin. That was the ballgame.

"I'm very pleased," said Marcus. "The kids really hustled. We loosened up and picked up some needed confidence."

He naturally ecstatic over the play of Panella, Luley and Wilson, the latter two whom he's been trying to break in slowly.

Cathedral coach Larry Byrnes praised the Sawyers noting that "their press hurt us. We just collapsed. We only had eight field goals in the second half and took 14 less shots."

The New York City coach felt the major difference between the teams he saw in this tournament and the kind he's used to was discipline, claiming that New York teams had more of it.

Saugerties' win, coming on the heels of the open victory against Coleman, lifts its record to 2-1. The Sawyers' next action is a week from Friday at Kingston.

Cathedral now boasts a 4-2 mark.

The tournament's consolation game turned out to be a rematch of last week's UCAL encounter between Coleman and Ontario and it had a similar result as the Statesmen won by a wide margin, 57-37.

And just as Coleman won big last week by pulling away in the last quarter, so did it shake off Ontario this time with a 21-6 fourth period.

Most of the time the Coleman quintet played unimpressive basketball, the likes of which is sure to snap its unbeaten league record when it faces stronger opponents.

Ontario played better, has improved tremendously in a week, but still could use more work.

Tim Mahoney led all scorers with 16 points for Coleman. John Carr notched 11 and Duane Carey posted 10. John Geuss put in a strong defensive game, but Phil Palladino was way off the mark for the second straight game.

Besides MVP Panella, others chosen for the all-tournament team were: Bill Fisher, Guelta, and John Manning of Cathedral; Jeff Port and George Woerthman of OCS; Carey and Geuss of Coleman; and Luley and Wilson of Saugerties.

Big Weekend of College Bowl Games Begins Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wild weekend of bowling—football style—gets underway tonight with two post-season college classics.

The Peach Bowl at Atlanta, Ga., matches 18th-ranked West Virginia against North Carolina State. Meanwhile, at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., Kent State faces Tampa. There are four games Saturday, including the East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco. North Carolina, ranked No. 16, plays Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. In the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., No. 6 Auburn goes up against Colorado, ranked 13th, and the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston has No. 11 Tennessee facing No. 10 Louisiana State.

The weekend winds up with the Big Four bowls—the best-known of the post-season action. That starts Sunday night with second-ranked Oklahoma meeting No. 5 Penn State in the New Year's Eve Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans. On New Year's Day, Monday, the Cotton Bowl at Dallas matches No. 4 Alabama and seventh-rated Texas, while top-ranked Southern California collides with No. 3 Ohio State in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., and Nebraska, No. 9, meets No. 12 Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.

Defense was the item that most concerned the four coaches as they completed preparations for tonight's two games.

"Whoever does the best job of stopping the other will be the winner," said Lou Holtz, coach of North Carolina State, as the Wolfpack, 7-3-1, readied to meet West Virginia in the Peach Bowl.

Both teams compiled impressive offensive records during the regular season with West Virginia slightly ahead statistically. The Mountaineers, 8-3, averaged 36.5 points per game and gained an average of 411 yards with quarterback Bernie Gaffia at the controls. Gaffia passed for 16 touchdowns and 3,312 yards during the regular season and ranked fifth in the nation in total offense with 227.8 yards per game.

North Carolina State averaged 432 yards and 32.7 points per game but two of the Wolfpack's key performers, quarterback Bruce Shaw and running back Stan Fritts, were nursing injuries and were listed as doubtful starters. Shaw passed for 1,708 yards and nine touchdowns while Fritts ran for 689 yards and 17 TDs.

St. John's Writes Story With Happy Ending

NEW YORK (AP) — This is a story with a happy ending about the St. John's, N.Y., basketball team.

It has a happy ending, but two variations, depending on the storyteller—star Bill Schaeffer or Coach Frank Mulzoff.

Prior to South Carolina's 79-69 victory over Manhattan Thursday night, St. John's won a dramatic 85-83 decision over heavily favored Michigan in the semifinals of the Holiday Festival Tournament.

Schaeffer delivered the game-winning basket with one second remaining. And while it was a clear victory for the underdog hometown favorites, the mechanics of the last play were confusing.

"I wasn't supposed to take the last shot," said Schaeffer, who pumped in a soft jumper from the key while the majority of 13,341 fans roared approval at Madison Square Garden.

But Mulzoff disputed Schaeffer in the Redmen's deliciously happy dressing room.

"The last play was set up for Schaeffer," said Mulzoff. "He's wrong if he says it wasn't. He's just delirious with the joy of winning. He doesn't know what he's talking about."

"I'm still in a sound frame of mind and I know what I'm talking about," Schaeffer was asked twice, however, and stood his ground.

"It was supposed to be a double screen with Greg Cleuss cutting into the basket and taking a pass," said Schaeffer, shaking his head in disbelief over Mulzoff's remarks. We couldn't get the ball into him—so it went out to me. But I definitely wasn't supposed to get it."

This was the story: the Redmen had wiped out a six-point lead by the powerful Wolverines and roared into an 83-83 tie with 90 seconds left.

Mulzoff's crew wasted about a minute of the clock, then called time out with 33 seconds and huddled to design the final play. The crowd noise swelled as St. John's tried to work the ball inside, and the noise was ear-splitting when Schaeffer finally put it through.

The hero said he had plenty of time.

"I looked at the clock and saw there was a second left and that's all the time I needed," said Schaeffer, who scored a team-leading total of 22 points.

The victory sent St. John's into Saturday's finals against a South Carolina club which had some desperate moments in the semifinals.

The Gamecocks piled up a 37-25 halftime lead behind Danny Traylor's 21 points, 11 rebounds and five blocked shots and then withstood a second-half Manhattan rally. The Jaspers closed within five points before the Gamecocks ran off seven straight and raced to a 73-61 lead with less than three minutes remaining.

Everything Went in for Knicks...Almost

NEW YORK (AP) — The ball didn't go in the basket every time the New York Knicks threw it up in the first period of their National Basketball Association game against the Buffalo Braves Thursday. It only seemed that way.

The Knicks connected on 17 of their first 25 shots to roll to a 37-13 lead en route to a 107-86 rout of the Braves with Earl Monroe and Willis Reed leading the early surge.

Both Reed and Monroe scored 10 points early as the Knicks blew the Braves out of the game almost before it started.

Walt Frazier led the New York scoring with 19 points while Monroe, playing only 30 minutes, added 16, hitting on eight of 10 field goal attempts. Reed had 12 points.

"I'm always looking to improve," said Monroe, who came to the Knicks just over one year ago. "I'm still learning. I don't think I would have any trouble fitting into the Knicks' five-man type of offense. There was some talk that we would need two basketballs if Frazier and I were in the game at the same time. Well, it hasn't worked out that way. I think we have proved that we work well together, very well."

Teammate Bill Bradley agreed.

"He's moved the ball real well and has been playing good, tight defense," said Bradley of Monroe. "Earl has fitted in with our moving patterns of offense in super fashion. He is a take charge guy when he has to be."

The victory over the Braves stretched New York's home record to 20 in 21 games.

Bob McDadd led the Braves with 23 points.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Milwaukee beat Detroit, 115-91. Baltimore edged Atlanta, 112-111, and Golden State topped Cleveland, 118-105. In the ABA, Utah crushed the Nets, 128-90. Carolina beat Indiana, 120-106, and Virginia slammed Dallas.

Senators' Smith and Turane Ineligible

Ulster to Battle Durham

STONE RIDGE
Ulster County Community College has lost two players for the rest of the season due to their failure to meet scholastic requirements.

Reserves Charles Turane and Dave Smith won't be in the lineup tonight when Ulster meets Durham, N.C., Community in the 6:30 p. m. first game of the Mercer, N.J. Community

Holiday Tournament at Trenton, N.J.

The absence of the pair for the duration of the schedule weakens Ulster's strong bench, but the Senators don't figure to be tremendously affected in their bid for another Mid-Hudson Conference and Region XV crown.

Tonight's game is the first for the 10-1 UCCC team since its loss to Manhattan, 70-69, Saturday.

The second game of the double-header pits Nassau Community against Mercer. Consolation and final round play will take place Saturday night.

Ulster fans planning on making the trip to Mercer are advised to follow the following instructions:

Thruway, to the Garden State Parkway, to the New Jersey Turnpike. At the Hightstown Exit (Exit 8) follow Rt. 33 west to the first traffic light, then go right on Rt. 539. Follow Rt. 539 for two miles until the intersection of Rt. 535, at which make a left turn. Mercer Community is located five miles from the intersection on the right side of the road.

Seven Ulster Wrestlers Alive

By STEVE KANE

POUGHKEEPSIE
Seven Ulster County high school wrestlers will be in contention tonight when the final rounds of the 1973 Mid-Hudson Invitational Wrestling Tournament get underway at Dutchess Community College.

Eliminations setting the semi-final bouts were run here Thursday with four Ontario grapplers, two Kingston wrestlers and a Saugerties matmen surviving the first two rounds.

Ontario is the only local school in the running for the team title. The Indians, showing surprising strength, racked up 14½ points to rank sixth in the 16-team field. Arlington, with seven men remaining after a shockingly good performance in the first day of competition, scored 27½ points to lead second place Cornwall by 10.

Robin Hunter, seeded first in the 98-lb category, got OCS off on the right foot in the first round, then stopped Rondout Valley's Tom Barry by an 8-6 count in the quarter final match. Hunter finished fourth here last year and he'll have to get past Arlington's Ken Media in the semi-finals today to better that.

Kingston's Willy Ortiz, a highly regarded 112-pounder, was the next local to lock up a spot. In one of the toughest weight classes in the tournament, Ortiz nailed his first opponent, Bob Zeller of Spring Valley, with a pin at the 3:25 mark, then decided Lawrence, L. 1's John Pecora, 3-2. Ortiz is seeded second and meets Steve Silverberg of Ramapo next.

Charles DeBellis of Ontario won his pair in 126, but the toughest is yet to come for this Indian. He was fourth a year ago, and his next match is with the '71 runnerup, Steve Horvath of Ramapo. Horvath is seeded second, and waiting in the other bracket is defending champ, Brad Kanter of John Jay.

At 138, Kingston's Jim Reedy faces Viggo Wurum of Ramapo in a semi-final bout. Reedy, a fourth seed, won his quarter-final match, 4-0, but he'll be up against the top seed in the weight class.

Leon Faulkner, the recent MVP of the Minisink Tournament, was third in 145 last year and drew the no. 2 seed this time. He picked up Ontario's third spot of the afternoon by pinning Arlington's Dana Wickes and deciding Washington's Vince McAdon. Faulkner has to get past White Plains' Bob Simons for a chance to meet the second defending champion in the tournament, Rick Lark of Cornwall.

Bob Heineck, 167, of Saugerties, top seeded but eliminated in the first round a year ago, didn't let history repeat itself. He pinned Ed

Riley of Cornwall to move into the semi-final bracket and will face first seeded Dominic Andreano of Lawrence.

Rick Johnson claimed Ontario's final place in the last match of the day. The 215-pounder dumped Newburgh's Bill Benjamin in the quarter-finals and will face No. 1 Rick O'Banks of Valley Central today.

The biggest surprise of the competition came in the team standings where Arlington jumped out in front of the pack. Rated as a darkhorse, the Admirals got a lot of strong efforts from some inexperienced wrestlers. The title is still up for grabs, however, as Ramapo has 17, Lawrence and John Jay trail Cornwall by one point each, Valley Central was 15½, Newburgh 15 and White Plains 13½.

Tournament director Bill Wright, also the Arlington Coach commented on the day's events: "Valley Central, and maybe Lawrence, was the pre-tourney favorite, but some kids got injured and some didn't make their weights, and that changed the picture. We're very young, but we only lost one in the first round."

"It's a wide-open tournament," agreed Ontario's Joe Friedel. "We've got four in the semis, one better than last year."

but more than that, it's great experience for the kids."

Matches resume at 12:30 p.m. today with the finals in all weight classes scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in Falcon Hall.

Team standings:

Team	Points
Arlington	27½
Cornwall	17½
Ramapo	17
John Jay	16
Valley Central	15½
Newburgh	15
White Plains	13½
Kingston	13
Washingtonville	7½

Lyle, Quarry Sign For Feb. 9 Bout

DENVER (UPI) — Fourth-ranked heavyweight Ron Lyle signed Thursday to meet Jerry Quarry in a 10-round bout Feb. 9 in New York's Madison Square Garden.

The announcement of the fight came just two days after Lyle, who has won 19 straight fights since turning pro, including 17 knockouts, was named World Boxing Association (WBA) fighter of the year.

Quarry, 27, must first get past Randy Neumann of New Jersey in a Jan. 5 Garden bout. Quarry, who announced his retirement from the ring after suffering a technical knockout at the hands of Muhammad Ali June 27, asked for the warmup bout before meeting Lyle.

Lyle's business partner, Bill Daniels, said the only catch to the Lyle-Quarry bout was that Lyle's contract said he would face the winner of the Quarry-Neumann bout.

"We're proceeding on the assumption that Quarry will win the match," Daniels said. Quarry logged a 43-64 record before retiring and was ranked among the top heavyweights in the world.

Happiness Is a First

MONTICELLO
Happiness, Honey, is the winner's circle.

That's where Happiness Honey wound up after winning the featured race at Monticello Raceway Thursday night, taking a three-quarter length decision over Western's Chief and E.M. Scott in 2:10.

Driven by a smiling Don Bailey, Happiness turned up the smile of backers who collected $10.80, $4.80, and $3.60.

The 6.2 daily double returned $24.60 Don Wilson steered Elena N. to the wire first in the first half, returning $6.40. Lloyd Gilmour scored in the second with Dilldocker ($5.00).

In the co-featured trot, Nevele Song opened up three lengths in the stretch to leave Red's Boy and Keystone Startle in his wake. With Tony Del Priore in the sulky, Nevele Song paid $9.20.

Miss Debater headed a 3-5-8-1 Superfecta which paid $948.00. The 3602 trackside customers waged $595,264. Off Track Betting handle was $78,985.

Catello Manzi, with a win Wednesday and a pair on Tuesday, moved to the top of the Monticello Winter Meet driving standings going into Thursday's program.

The 22-year-old native of Sullivan County had 24 first place finishes. John, George, and Lloyd Gilmour, all idle since Christmas before Thursday, held down the runnerup spots.

The standings:
Driver Starts Wins Pts.
1. Manzi 108 24 222
2. J. Gilmour 140 22 157
3. G. Gilmour 80 17 212

9. Lohmeyer 49 11 224
10. Melia 48 10 208

Ben Webster will also drive in both Saturday cards. The track has scheduled another doubleheader for New Year's Day. Sage Widower, who made the final start of his career Thursday night, Clan Raider, who also made his last trip Thursday and Air New Zealand, finishing up tomorrow evening, will be officially retired in trackside ceremonies Saturday night. New York State law provides that no horse may race past his 14th year.

TRACK DIRECT — Herve Filion has a drive in all 20 races of Saturday's day-night doubleheader. Monticello officials claim it's a first for Herve, North America's dash leading driving champion.

Unfair Labor Charges Against Sheriff Martin Dropped

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON — Unfair labor practices charges against Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin have been withdrawn by the Civil Service Employees Association in Albany.

The charges were originally brought against Martin in October by the Ulster County Unit of the CSEA because of alleged interference in union activities.

It was contended that an alleged altercation occurred Oct. 5 between Martin and Daniel Jenks, a professional bargaining agent for the CSEA in Albany. Jenks claimed that Martin physically threw him out of the sheriff's office after he attempted to meet with the deputies.

Martin said then that Jenks became "abusive" and that he "escorted him out the door."

The withdrawal of the charges became official with the approval of the Public Employment Relations Board in Albany.

No reason for withdrawing the charges was given in a copy of PERB's letter sent to the parties involved announcing that the "case is now closed."

John Ray Mayone, president of the Ulster County Unit of the CSEA, told The Freeman he knew nothing about the charges being withdrawn. The case was being handled by CSEA in Albany, and it was apparently their decision to withdraw charges, Mayone explained.

Sheriff's deputies are meanwhile planning to appeal a PERB decision under which they are considered members of CSEA until May 1973, according to First Sergeant Donald Policastro, who was elected spokesman for the deputies several months ago. The deputies dispute with CSEA, separate and distinct from the charges brought against Martin, stems from the fact that deputies no longer wish to be represented by CSEA.

Deputies are also going to appeal PERB's decision that they be bound by a two year contract negotiated by CSEA and the County, Policastro said.

"We don't want to be bound to the CSEA contract with the county," he told The Freeman. The contract, which was ratified by CSEA members Wednesday, was not submitted to deputies for a vote because they are not considered members of the organization, as well as others who do not belong to CSEA. CSEA is, however, the recognized bargaining agent for all county employees whether or not they are members, and the deputies later decided to withdraw from the organization. Policastro explained previously that the deputies were not aware that they could join a union other than the CSEA when they signed up. They have since been informed that they can join another union, but only after May 1973, according to the PERB ruling.

Poughkeepsie Program Slated

POUGHKEEPSIE — After assiduous work to bring some degree of human kindness to the many derelicts in the lower Main Street area of Poughkeepsie for more than a year, a program is expected to begin within the next "week or ten days," according to Harold Anderson of Dutchess County Committee for Economic Opportunity.

There were stumbling blocks all along the way. The major hurdle was cleared at a Poughkeepsie Common Council meeting Dec. 4 by a narrow 5-4 margin, and a contract signed Dec. 14 with Model City Agency to fund the six-month pilot program with $3,600.

Another barrier is being worked on. Anderson told The Freeman. The original site for the day center at 5 Main Street has been withdrawn by the landlord. He does not want to lease the building probably because of community pressure," said the DCEO director.

There was, in fact, considerable community pressure from aldermen themselves, as indicated in the narrow margin of victory. After an impassioned plea by Lawrence Pixley, a social worker who heads a citizens committee supporting the program, before the Common Council at the December meeting some alleged disadvantages to the scheme were outlined.

Alderman Pasquale Letteri claimed the measure would propagate a skid row and that Poughkeepsie would become a mecca for unfortunates. He wanted the center to be shifted to some unspecified rural area.

The matter of the numerous derelicts, many of them alcoholics, who inhabit lower Main Street has been under varying stages of discussion for years in the Queen City, with this the first positive action taken.

The main purpose of this day center, according to Anderson, is to provide food and medical care for these approximately 100 men, and a few women, who must resort to sleeping on doorsteps and in abandoned buildings.

Alderman Joseph Runza labeled the men "bums" and voted against the measure as encouraging the men to remain in the area. As a non-residential center, it would be open for eight to ten hours daily, whenever the need was the greatest, but would not provide a place for the men to sleep.

This try to "get the men on Main Street back into the mainstream of society," as Pixley put it, is officially designated "Program for the Indigents," according to Art Rubin, deputy director of Model City Agency.

Anderson said that an attempt is being made to organize the men into some sort of cohesive unit, with elected officers, to give them a sense of responsibility to the concept.

What do the indigents themselves think of the idea?

"They have shown enthusiasm, especially since the article appeared in the paper about the approval," said Anderson, adding that many were aware of efforts being made prior to that but were becoming very "frustrated" about the necessary procedures to implement the program.

Two other buildings in the neighborhood are being investigated for possible occupancy, and some slight renovations will probably be necessary, but it is the closest yet that most of these men have gotten to reliance on some form of stability for a long time.

They are waiting, and most still have hope, commented Anderson.

Reaport Challenge Struck Down

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State's highest court has struck down a challenge of the plan enacted a year ago.

In a unanimous decision Thursday, the Court of Appeals upheld the redistricting of the Senate and Assembly, saying the legislature complied with both the requirement to keep districts as compact as possible and the one-man one-vote principle.

Michael Schwartz, a New York University law professor, and Lydia T. Schneider, a telephone company employee from Hempstead, had challenged the plan, asserting it unnecessarily carved up cities and counties, created districts which were not compact and amounted to a gerrymander because it favored Republicans.

Judge Matthew J.asen wrote in the decision that the challengers had failed to demonstrate "the invidious effects of the alleged gerrymander."

He also said the entire question of whether gerrymandering is unconstitutional "is too sensitive and significant an issue to be decided on this record with its bare allegation."

The case was argued before the court just before the Nov. 7 election, the first election under the redistricting plan.

If the court had found fault with the plan, it probably would have let the plan stand temporarily but ordered the next legislature, which convenes Jan. 3, to draw up another.

Winners Are Listed

KINGSTON — Three winners have been named in the recent POW/MIA Period of Concern drawing for the area.

William Short, Red Hook, won a colored television; Jayne Hoehing, Kingston, a cassette tape recorder; and Bernard Bujak, Kingston, a clock radio. The money raised will be given to the National League of Families of Prisoners of War and Missing in Action in Southeast Asia to help them continue their efforts to assist prisoners or missing personnel in Southeast Asia.

The program was sponsored by Concerned Citizens for POWs/MIAs and the Americanism Committee of Post 150, American Legion of Kingston.

Safety Course

A state-mandated snowmobile safety course for youngsters from 10-16 years of age will be given at the Rhinebeck American Legion Hall. The course will be held from 7-9 p.m. Fridays, beginning Jan. 5. Those wishing to register must contact instructor Paul S. Vonderheide from 6-9 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

Proposed West Hurley Water System Termed 'Adequate'

By JON POWERS

WEST HURLEY
Engineers for the Hudson Valley Water Companies, Inc. testified that the proposed water distribution system for Pleasant Ridge Estates in West Hurley will provide adequate supply and pressure for the 62-lot subdivision, at a public hearing conducted by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation Thursday.

According to engineer Christus Larios, of the engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios of Kingston, the artesian well has a capacity of 25,000 gallons a day, although only one-third of the capacity is needed to adequately serve the homes in the proposed development.

Pleasant Ridge Estates is located on the east side of Route 375 in West Hurley. Its developers need permission from the Department of Environmental Conservation and the Public Service Commission to install the water system before actual construction of the homes can begin.

Larios testified that six-inch mains from the 145-foot-deep well will carry water throughout the development. It will also include a 30,000 gallon atmospheric pressure tank and a 4,000 gallon pneumatic pressure tank to insure adequate water pressure throughout the system.

The storage tank, said Larios, will provide a full day's supply of water should the well break down.

There were three formal protestors to the plan; the Public Service Commission and two residents of West Hurley. The two area homeowners' did not attend the hearing.

PSC spokesman John Agansky requested that a monitoring system installed at the pump house to warn of a breakdown in the system. DEC representative Fiero DeMasi said his department would require such a stipulation before approval could be given. A. J. Fuller, president of Hudson Valley Water Companies, Inc., later testified that he would "try" to have a warning system installed.

Louis Kropatkin, who lives on Route 375 near the proposed development, said that the new well could affect the quality and quantity of water in neighboring wells, and also cited the "great shortage of water" in the West

Hurley area. Larios said the new well would not reduce the quantity of water in nearby wells, and added that there are efforts being made in the Woodstock-Hurley area to draw water from Cooper Lake and the Ashokan Reservoir. "We're hoping to do away with individual wells," said Larios.

Town of Hurley councilmen Henry Paul Jr. and Walter J. Rose, as well as Supervisor George Schroeder, expressed concern that the system would provide sufficient water to all the homes in the development. Larios, in response, said that each home would have adequate pressure, although the homes at the end of the water main would probably not experience the same pressure as those closer to the well pump. Rose, in addition, said that the water system installed by the Hudson Valley firm in "Hurley Ridge East" and

"Hurley Ridge West" (located near the proposed Pleasant Ridge Estates development) have experienced numerous maintenance and supply problems. Fuller denied that

The Ulster County Health Department and Region 3 of the Department of Environmental Conservation were also represented at Thursday's hearing in West Hurley. The DEC's Bureau of Water

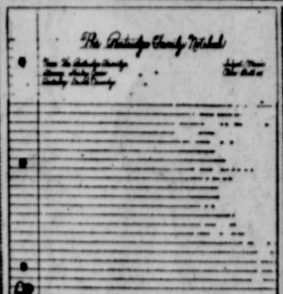

Regulations will issue its ruling on the application to install the water system after examining the plans and specifications. The PSC, however, may bar the system by denying the application.

Former Cashier Shoots Boss

NEW YORK (UPI) — Shouting, "This will be the last person you ever fire," a former cashier pulled a sawed-off shotgun from under his coat and fatally shot his boss in the chest at the plush St. Regis-Sheraton Hotel.

The shooting of Damaso Salomon, 30, the hotel's head cashier, occurred Thursday before the personnel manager and two union officials in the hotel's second-floor personnel office during a meeting called to discuss Manuel Irizarry's dismissal.

A few hours afterward, Irizarry, accompanied by a cousin, surrendered to police on a Bronx street. He gave the three arresting officers a sawed-off 20-gauge shotgun, one spent shell and 12 unfired shells.

A police spokesman said that, during the meeting, Irizarry excused himself to go to the bathroom. When he returned a few minutes later, police said, he produced a sawed-off shotgun from under his coat.

He lined the union officials and personnel manager up against a wall, told Salomon, "This will be the last person you ever fire," shot him in the chest and fled, police said.

Police told hundreds of guests to stay in their rooms while they searched the hotel. Other guests caught outside shivered in the wintry cold.

Dog Ordinance . . . Pro, Con

TOWN OF KINGSTON
A public hearing on the proposed establishment of a dog control ordinance for the Town of Kingston drew comments both pro and con Thursday.

Comments were heard from those who felt that the town should adopt stricter dog controls, and those who felt that existing Agricultural and Marketing laws are sufficient for rural areas.

Supervisor Kenneth Whispell said the town's proposed ordinance duplicates many of the stipulations included in the state law, but added that it also includes points not covered in the Agricultural and Marketing law. For instance, said Whispell, the Town's proposed ordinance would forbid dogs in heat to run loose and would have provisions for the control of dogs that bark or howl continuously. Neither area, he said, is covered by the state law.

Whispell said the Town Board will meet in executive session to review the opinions expressed at Thursday's hearing, and will then make its decision at its Jan. 8 meeting.

There will be no Town Board meeting Jan. 1 because of the New Year's Day holiday.

 TO BRING IN THE NEW YEAR, I couldn't do bet-

 sage of last year:
PEACE!
 The French pronounce it
 "Pax"; in Spanish it's
 "Paz"; we Italians say
 "Pace"; all from the little Latin word, "Pax."
 Germans say "Frieden", the Scandinavians come near that with "Fred";
 Jews and Arabs both say
 "Shalom"; and there are a dozen others I can nei-

 But however you say
 "PEACE"
 that's how I want to say it with you. ERNIE

Putting Yule Tree to Use After Christmas Season

STAMFORD, Conn. — When a Christmas tree is taken down, put it to good use in your yard or garden, says Robert A. Bartlett, president of The F.A. Bartlett Tree Expert Co.

Cut off the boughs and place the smaller ones, curved ends up, around shrubs, plantings or on garden beds when the ground is free of snow. This acts as a mulch, reducing thermal fluctuation and preventing frost heaving.

Larger branches can be used to build tepee-like protection over laurel, cotoneaster, hybrid azaleas and other tender plants. Or needles can be stripped from the branches and scattered beneath such acid-loving shrubs as azalea, rhododendron, andromeda and laurel.

The Christmas tree can also be converted into a backyard birdfeeder. A fir is ideal for this purpose, because it retains its needles longer than many other evergreens. Pieces of suet, popcorn and other morsels of food are then tied to the outer branches and it will be

New Measure

NEW YORK (UPI) — As of New Year's Day, the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will desex all animals adopted from its New York facilities.

Charles Haines, president of the chapter, said, "Primarily, we hope to keep the animal population in New York City within reasonable bounds. It would be far better if there were fewer unwanted animals in the city. Much of the blame for this is the result of street corner and backyard breeding fostered by irresponsible owners."

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

HEAVYWEIGHT: (Q) I have trouble getting dates. I have never dated a girl, even though I talk to them all the time. I am five feet four and weigh 212 pounds.

When I go out I go by myself and do nothing but drink too much and eat too much. Please tell me how to stop this and start dating girls. 18 and Too Big in Texas.

(A.) No preaching, just instructions.

Go to your doctor. Tell him you want to lose 50 or 90 pounds as fast as you safely can. Ask him to put you on a diet.

Stick to the diet. Do not vary from it even one time. When you have lost 10 pounds ask a girl for a date. If she says yes, fine. If not do not give up.

When you have lost 20 pounds, ask another girl for a date. Each 10 pounds you lose, ask a girl for a date. It will be easier for you to ask as you get slimmer and better looking, and sooner or later a girl will say yes.

But do not quit dieting even then. Keep on till you get down to 125 or 135 and look and feel your best. Then keep your weight there.

Oh, yes. Your diet will not permit you to have alcoholic drinks. They are fattening.

ACTRESS: (Q) I may sound stupid but I want to be an actress. I'm serious. I like to act in school plays, and I want to act professionally, if only in commercials.

I know that acting is not easy and that many fail and I might be one of them. But I don't believe I will. Could you please tell me where to start?—13-Year old Girl in Oklahoma.

(A.) It is not at all stupid to decide what one wants to do in life and work toward it. Too many never decide. They are the stupid ones.

If you are appearing in school plays you have already made a start. That is a very good place to start. Take all the parts you can get in as many kinds of school plays and shows as you can without interfering with your regular studies.

Take all the speech courses you can get. If you can find them in your area, take private speech and acting lessons. If you have singing or dancing ability, develop it in regular lessons. Continue this program in a good university and then you should be ready to try your wigs as a professional actress.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 3402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

Stars Cash in on Terrorism

EILAT, Israel (AP) — Hollywood and American television stars are cashing in on Arab terrorism in the Middle East.

With a black, 13-foot-long nuclear bomb in the leading role, producer Buddy Ruskin, creator of TV's "Mod Squad," is making a film called "Sabra Command" about an Israeli army unit hunting guerrillas in the desert.

"With a subject like this, it's bound to be a success," said Ruskin, surrounded by authentic-looking Arab corpses in the parched Sinai Desert.

Co-starring with the bomb is David Jansson, hero of the five-year TV series "The Fugitive" and "O'Hara, U.S. Treasury."

In the Israeli desert patrol are Art Metrano, who played Al Capone in the "Chicago Teddy Bears" television saga, brunette German TV actress Karen Dor and 10 American and Israeli players.

"We want to show Israelis and Jews in a new light — fighting in the desert and dancing in the discotheques, instead of working in shops," said Ruskin, a 42-year-old former detective who turned his experiences into the hit "Mod Squad" series. "And we want to show that the Arab terrorists of today are like the Mafia in its heyday."

But, Ruskin added: "We are not portraying the Arab people as bad. Most Arabs don't want anything to do with the terrorists."

"Sabra Command" deals chillingly with genuine Arab guerrilla incidents. It opens with the bloody bazooka am-

Here is a hand from the Swiss teams at the Lancaster Nationals. It doesn't show any particularly bad play but the leading expert who managed to make exactly 10 tricks didn't think much of his play.

We'll let him describe what he did in his own words.

As anyone can plainly see five spades is a laydown. All I had to do was win the club in dummy and lead a heart to my king. West would pop on his ace but there would be no way for the defense to stop me ruffing my other two hearts and winding up with 11 tricks.

"I was careless enough to let the club come to my hand. Then I played two rounds of trumps before leading a heart. West took his ace and was

There's nothing like a clean, unsullied desk calendar to make you realize just how long a pull it is till the next holiday.

Skiers are the only folk we know who'll invest hundreds of dollars and travel an equal number of miles to break an ankle.

It's a terrible thing to gossip, but it's much worse to be gossiped ABOUT.

There's a vast silence around here since we suggested the wife get out all her hats and save them for the year-end party.

Putting the decorations away is a great method of finding the twenty-five dollars' worth you couldn't locate in storage before Christmas.

Bank Suing Nixon Political Contributor

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The National Bank of Washington is suing Walter T. Duncan, one of 1972's biggest political campaign contributors, for non-payment of a $200,000 loan he took out two days before donating an identical amount to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Duncan, a land developer from San Antonio and Bryan, Tex., donated a total of $300,000 to Humphrey's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, then gave $305,000 to President Nixon's campaign. At the time of his contributions, Duncan faced an array of legal, financial and governmental difficulties.

The bank filed suit Dec. 21 in Bexar County, Texas, District Court three weeks after the due date on the six month note had passed with, the complaint said, no payment from Duncan.

Duncan could not be reached for comment and his answer to the complaint is not yet due in court.

Co. was put up as security for the loan.

Bank representatives would not say whether the stock was registered in Duncan's name or in some other name. The bank, through its attorney, also refused to say if it knew why Duncan took out the loan.

The chief executive officer of Archer Daniels Midland is soybean magnate Dwayne O. Andreas, a major Humphrey contributor and fund-raiser who later switched to Nixon.

Andreas made a once-secret $25,000 contribution to Nixon last April. It later came to light during the investigation of the Watergate bugging case.

Duncan got his $200,000 loan at 5½ per cent interest from the National Bank of Washington on May 31. Two days later he wrote a $200,000 check to the Humphrey campaign which a fund-raiser picked up personally at Duncan's residence at that time at Bryan.

Duncan gave $305,000 to the Nixon campaign in August in the form of a note which the Committee for the Re-election of the President sold to another Washington bank at a slight discount. The bank has not said whether it has collected on the loan yet.

Duncan was the largest contributor listed for Humphrey and the third largest listed for Nixon.

At about the time of the Nixon contribution, Duncan was being sued for $2.27 million in State Court at Dallas. That suit grew out of his failure to make payments on a land mortgage which was involved in a major Texas financial scandal of 1971—the collapse of the Sharpstown State Bank and National Bankers Life Insurance Co.

More than $1.1 million of the amount sought from Duncan is owed ultimately to depositors of the defunct bank whose interests are represented by the government's Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

The land involved in the deal was sold in foreclosure proceedings at virtually the same time Duncan was obtaining his $200,000 bank loan in Washington and giving a like amount to Humphrey.

Jury trial in the $2.27-million suit is set for July 16. Duncan denies the allegations of the suit in his formal answer.

His attorney in that case would not say whether any out-of-court settlement is being discussed.

Experts From U.S. Arrive

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Experts from the United States began a study today of the feasibility of rebuilding earthquake-shattered Managua on its present site.

Teams of geologists and seismologists arrived from the United States Thursday as specialists from Mexico and Venezuela announced preliminary findings.

Demolition crews were still dynamiting and bulldozing in the downtown area next to Lake Managua, clearing it of damaged structures and the rubble of buildings and homes that were flattened in seconds by the severe quake early Saturday. An estimated 2,000-5,000 persons were killed and 20,000 seriously injured.

Although Managua has been hit twice in 40 years by murderous earthquakes, a group of Mexican experts led by Dr. Cinna Lomnitz reported to Nicaraguan authorities that there was no need to relocate their capital city.

"Most of the city is located on hard volcanic tuff—solid stuff," said Lomnitz, director of the Department of Seismology at the University of Mexico. "Its subsoil is sounder than that of Mexico City, for instance."

He said the damage was so great because the epicenter of the quake was right underneath the city.

"It was like a direct hit by a bomb," he explained.

The Mexican experts suggested that the damaged area be turned into a park or "green zone."

An estimated 15,000 persons were still roaming the city center despite its designation as an "emergency" or "contaminated" area and orders to evacuate it. Shooting was heard Thursday as national guard patrols tried to drive off looters, but it appeared that mostly they were shooting over their heads. Unofficial reports said only 37 persons had been wounded for bullet wounds since Saturday. There were rumors of looters being killed, but no confirmed reports.

In an attempt to drive all survivors from the city to facilitate the clearing operation, Gen. Anastasio Somoza, the country's ruler, ordered that food be given out only at distribution points outside the city.

A fire department official estimated that a third of Managua's 300,000 population still disregarded the orders to get out. The others have moved on to towns and villages in a radius of 75 miles around Managua. Many were given temporary refuge in schools and stadiums, but the distribution of food and medicine over the large area was slow because of a shortage of trucks.

Governor Accepts Resignation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has formally accepted the resignation of Presiding Judge Fred A. Young of the state Court of Claims.

Young, 68, from Lowville, who was first appointed to the court in 1949, cited in his resignation letter his doctor's orders to "discontinue judicial duties as soon as possible."

The governor replied, "I accept your resignation sadly..." Young, a former legislator, interrupted his career on the Court of Claims to serve nearly three years as state Republican Party chairman. He was reappointed to the bench in 1965.

FREE AFTER 22 YEARS — Alfred Curt von Wolfersdorf, 89, walks from the Binghamton State Hospital a free man. Wolfersdorf, a defendant in a Dutchess County murder, spent 22 years in state mental institutions until ordered freed after the district attorney's office admitted it had no evidence against him. Von Wolfersdorf was committed without trial in 1950 to a hospital for the criminally insane for the "thought control" murder of a 14-year-old boy. Another man was executed for the crime in 1953, but said Wolfersdorf ordered him to do it by "thought control." Wolfersdorf is with his wife Margaret. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Two Blasts Rock Irish Republic

DUBLIN (UPI) — The violence of Northern Ireland spilled over into the Irish Republic Thursday night, leaving two persons dead and at least 12 wounded in one of two separate bombings.

Irish troops sealed off the border today in the hunt for the bombers.

The explosions in the south were the first since Dec. 1 when two persons died in a Dublin blast.

Four other bombings were reported in Northern Ireland itself, but there were no reports of injuries there.

Police said the blast in the southern town of Belturbet killed a man and a 17-year-old girl and injured at least 12 other persons, among them a child.

The other ripped a street of shops in the town of Clones, but caused no casualties.

Police said they thought Protestant extremists from the north planted the bombs to take vengeance on border towns in the republic they consider bases from which the illegal Irish Republican Army (IRA) launches bombing and shooting strikes into Northern Ireland.

In Belfast, the Protestant extremist Ulster Defense Association, which has claimed responsibility for some past attacks in the republic, declined comment on the latest bombings.

The Belturbet bomb, an estimated 100-pound charge, was planted in a car outside a pub near the post office. It demolished the pub and an adjoining clothing store and shattered windows at more than 20 other shops. One hunk

Russia Grants Amnesty

MOSCOW (UPI) — The government announced Thursday night it will free thousands of petty criminals, but no political prisoners, in a general amnesty marking the 50th anniversary of the Soviet Union.

The amnesty is the first since 1967.

This time the government called for the release of "those convicted who proved, through exemplary conduct and conscientious attitude towards labor, that they firmly embarked on the road to correction."

The announcement by the Soviet news agency Tass said the amnesty applies mostly to petty crooks and pickpockets guilty of misdemeanors and felonies.

It specifically excluded "those convicted for dangerous state and penal crimes" — murder, rape, banditry, rioting and narcotics selling and prisoners with two or more previous convictions.

Soviet amnesties have been traditional on state occasions since czarist days, but just as traditionally, they have not applied to political prisoners.

Those benefitting now included first-term prisoners serving sentences up to five years who fit at least one of the following categories: Expectant mothers, women with children under 17, women older than 55, persons under 17 when they committed their crime, decorated military combat veterans and men older than 60.

Also pardoned were persons serving terms up to three years, provided they accept jobs offered them by the state.

Soviet citizens have not been enthusiastic over the freeing of petty criminals in previous general amnesties because many of them released in 1953, 1957 and 1967 amnesties went immediately back to their old trades and wound up back in prison.

Russians actually celebrate the nation's confederation on Dec. 30, but the celebrations were pushed back to Dec. 21 and 22 this year to avoid having the festivities and visits of foreign Communist leaders conflict with the New Year holiday.
